Current Herpetology.—Current Herpetology publishes original research articles on amphibians and reptiles. It is the official journal of the Herpetological Society of Japan and is a continuation of Acta Herpetologica Japonica (1964-1971) and Japanese Journal of Herpetology (1972-1999).

Herpetological Society of Japan.—The Herpetological Society of Japan was established in 1962. The society now publishes Current Herpetology and Bulletin of the Herpetological Society of Japan, each twice per year. Current Herpetology is printed solely in English and is international in both scope of topics and range of contributors. Bulletin of the Herpetological Society of Japan is printed exclusively in Japanese and publishes more regional topics and announcements about the Herpetological Society of Japan.

Membership and Subscriptions.—Membership (including subscriptions) is open to all interested persons. Current annual fees are 5,000 Japanese yen for the regular members who receive both Current Herpetology and Bulletin of the Herpetological Society of Japan. For those who wish to have Current Herpetology only, there is a reduction to 3,000 yen. To subscribe to Current Herpetology and/or Bulletin of the Herpetological Society of Japan, please contact the Treasurer. We accept VISA and Master Cards. If you need to use a bank check, please add 2,000 Japanese yen for the handling charge.

All other correspondences regarding the society, including the availability and cost of society publications, should be directed to the office of the Secretary.
